Towards the end of the summer, we got together to finalize our parts list. We ordered our parts at the end of August. Also, reexamining our parts list for the base of the Tesla Coil, one of the factors we want to take into account is ease of construction. We had the idea to use plexiglas as the base. Because we want the structure to be fully supported, I am planning on adjusting the size of the base to account for ease of construction using plexiglas and a larger base.
